

New Phytologist* special collection on Plant carbon allocation in a changing world
Author guidelines

Deadline for submission – 31 December 2018

All manuscripts will be subject to rigorous peer review. Articles submitted for consideration will be treated in exactly the same way as regular papers submitted to the journal are (i.e. they will go through the same peer review process as regular papers and acceptance is not guaranteed); special papers must therefore focus on timely research that provides new insights into the broad principles of plant science.
